

HOA Communication

Communication Between Reconstruction Experts, Your Board of Directors, Association Managers and Design Professionals/Engineers

RE will host meetings for all parties involved in the project, including Owners, Management, Architects & Board of Directors in order to keep lines of communication open.

Onsite project team members will create weekly update sheets relaying project status, notices, etc.

We will meet regularly with the HOA to touch base about project status and any concerns that may arise.

A custom website will be available for residents and management to access 24/7. The website will be updated every Friday afternoon with important project details.

Resident Communication

Communication between RE and Your Residents

MACRO: Entire Community

Townhall meetings Prior to project start date, we will hold a townhall meeting to introduce project team, project approach & expectations.

Regular progress notices We will send property notices via mail or email that contain important project information.

Community bulletin board Project notices will be posted in common areas to inform residents of start times and any necessary construction update.

Custom website A custom website will be available for residents to access 24/7. This will be include project team, schedule, status, etc.

Project team contact info Residents will have direct access to their RE team, should any questions or concerns arise.

MICRO: Individual Residents

Individual consultations (upon request) If requested, one-on-one meetings can be scheduled for project related residents inquiries.

Your project snapshot Snapshots are frequently asked questions and information relating to your individual homes and their impacts.

Onsite team A Superintendent will be onsite Monday - Friday between 8am and 5pm wearing a dark green safety vest.

24 Hour emergency response In addition to onsite staff, team members will be available 24/7 via email or phone to answer any questions.